Elder Abuse

Seniors in Central Alberta suffer at the hands of loved ones and caregivers on a regular basis. The Golden Circle Senior Resource Centre in Red Deer has developed the 24-hour Elder Abuse Resource Line to help in the areas of emergency housing, education and referrals.

Elder abuse can take several forms, often with more than one type of abuse occurring at the same time.

Financial Abuse

This is "the misuse of an older person's funds or property through fraud, trickery, theft or force." It can include, but is not limited to:
*frauds * the misuse of money or property *convincing an older person to buy a product or give away money *stealing money or possessions *misusing bank or credit cards *misusing joint banking accounts *forging a signature on pension cheques or legal documents *misusing a power of attorney.

Psychological or Emotional Abuse

This may take the form of verbal aggression, humiliation, isolation, intimidation, threats and inappropriate control of activities. In all cases, it diminishes the identity and self-worth of older people. It can also provoke intense fear, anxiety or debilitating stress.
